Rising Hope

LOGLINE

All know the way, but few actually walk it – Rising Hope, once the fastest horse in the world, dares to be one of the few.

SYNOPSIS

Rising Hope, who used to be the fastest horse in the world, suddenly turns into a loser. With the help of a new friend – a jack-of-all-trades hound – he finds hope and himself again.

DIRECTOR'S STATEMENT

Joshu was a famous Chinese Zen Master. One day a troubled monk approached him, intending to ask the Master for guidance. A dog walked by. The monk asked Joshu, "Does that dog have a Buddha-nature or not?"

Rising Hope, the main character in this short, is a famous racehorse. When he gets in trouble, a dog walks by. Well, I don't know what master Joshu answered about the dog in his story, but I'm sure that the dog in this movie has a Buddha-nature of a kind. He shows Rising Hope how to escape from the pressure to perform and how to find his own bliss.

Dennis Rettkowski (Rigging, Rendering, R&D, FX)

Dennis Rettkowski has over 10 years of working experience as VFX supervisor and graphics software developer and is currently working at Berlin based Talking Animals as a producer and technical director for animated films.

Lars Krüger (Animation)

During their studies of animation Lars Krüger and Milen shared a working room at the time when the idea to Rising Hope first arose. Lars liked the idea from the first draft of the script. Today he works as a freelance character animator based in Berlin Kreuzberg.

Michael Herm (Animation)

Freelance animator, director, 3D artist. Studied animation at the University of Film and Television (HFF) "Konrad Wolf" and later found animation to be a good way to distract himself from contemplating on the meaning of life.

Olaf Aue (Director of Photography)

After serving his apprenticeship as an advertising photographer in Hamburg, he graduated in Aesthetic Communication and Cultural Sciences in Hildesheim. He is a guest lecturer on Digital Cinematography, HD and Digital Cinema at the DFFB (German Film and Television Academy Berlin) and the Salzburg University of Applied Sciences. With nearly 20 years of professional experience in cinematography, he keeps on exploring different conceptions. Rising Hope is the second animated stereoscopic 3D movie on which he has worked after "Flamingo Pride" (director: Tomer Eshed), awarded in SIGGRAPH and Animago last year.

Vera Trajanova (Script Consulting)

Bulgarian scriptwriter, freelance writer and journalist from Russian descent, based in Berlin. She holds a BA in History from the Humboldt University of Berlin, and is currently studying Screenplay Writing at the University for Film and Television (HFF) "Konrad Wolf" in Potsdam. Her articles have appeared in major magazines and newspapers in Bulgaria.

Jan Schneider (Set Design)

He graduated in Graphic Design at the University of Applied Sciences in Munich (1996), worked for a number of years as a freelance set designer for computer games, and then graduated from the University for Film and Television (HFF) "Konrad Wolf" in Production Design (2009), where he specialised in digital image processing, set extension, 3D modelling and VFX. He currently lectures at the same university in the Faculty of Production Design.

Jens Prausnitz (Editor)

Jens Prausnitz is a passionate filmmaker and editor. He is working since 10 years professionally for Polish Television (TVP, MTV, Kino Polska), advertising agencies (DDB, Saatchi, TBWA, Leo Burnett), and edited several short, and one German feature film. In 2007 he was nominated for a Cannes Lion with his spot "Homeless" in the category "Public Awareness".

Martin Reimers (Set Design)

Martin Reimers studied Editing at the University for Film and Television (HFF) "Konrad Wolf" in Potsdam-Babelsberg. Lives and works in Berlin.

Michał Krajczok (Sound Designer)

Michał was born in Poland and emigrated with his family to Germany at the age of 10. From the fascination of grandpa's piano over experiments in classical, rock and jazz music, he developed his passion towards music and further on towards sound for film. He moved to Berlin to study Sound Engineering at the HFF "Konrad Wolf" in 2003, working on projects such as "Cocoon Child" and "The Tell-Tale Heart" as well as several live action films.

Stefan Maria Schneider (Music)

Stefan Maria Schneider studied Composition at University of Music and Performing Arts, Vienna, Media Composition at Academy of Music "Hanns Eisler", Berlin, and Film Music at Academy for Film and Television "Konrad Wolf", Potsdam-Babelsberg.

Stefan wrote music for the directing debut of German actress Franka Potente of "Run Lola Run" fame. He worked for the British composer John Powell ("Face Off", "Bourne Identity", "Ice Age") and co-orchestrated Powell's Academy Award nominated soundtrack for "How To Train Your Dragon".

Marian Mentrup (Music)

Specialized in sound design and music production for film and new media. Besides that he also worked as a re-recording mixer on more than 30 short and long films from 16 mm mono up to stereoscopic 3D films with Dolby EX. His work has been heard on film festivals like Cannes, Berlinale, the BAFTAs in London, in Los Angeles, Toronto and many more and has won several awards. Currently he is working as a freelancer in London and Berlin.

Voice talent - Felix Freese

Felix took part in several theatre- and theatre youth club productions, as well as off theatre projects. Since 2009 he is studying Acting at the University for Film and Television (HFF) "Konrad Wolf" and has since then worked on internal projects. He played in "Mittagshitze" (director: Moritz Richard Schmidt) and "Die Nacht singt ihre Lieder" (director: Peter Hecker). Theatre projects: "Amadeus", "Mit dem Feuer spielen", "Kabale und Liebe", "Die Passionsspiele", "Die Räuber".
